Foreword

The school year of 1952 cannot be bound into these few pages. However, the PAN-O-RAM staff hopes this issue will switch the light of memory on students, teachers, and activities of that year. May the scattering rays recall many things that belong to "Life in Lago."

Dedication

To Miss Marian Mills, this book is earnestly dedicated. By accepting and correcting the "manana" ways of her staff, her thorough efforts are responsible for this PAN-O-RAM. The staff sincerely thanks "Millsie" for making this publication possible.

LAGO COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL

Modern architecture—open corridors—sunshine filtered through white louvres—well-versed American teachers—dogs visiting classrooms—new texts—lighthearted laughter—terrazzo walks—breezy stairways—October through June.

DEAN THOMPSON IS LAGO'S NEW PILOT

Dean V. Thompson, our school superintendent! To his efforts we ascribe a new and active student council, a smoother and more efficiently run school system, and a renewed student-faculty interest in Lago High School. We thank you, Mr. Thompson, for the new academic outlook you have given us. Through you, we look forward to better years in Lago High.

SENIORS END TWELVE-YEAR MARCH . . .

It may be said, with a little optimism, that we have been advancing for twelve years. Patient teachers have tried to prepare our minds and personalities for the future. Our childhood course is now over. We have had lots of fun this last year with activities like the Senior Picnic, Junior Prom, Senior Banquet, and Senior Ball. We have assumed the role of school leaders:

Student Council, "Pan-O-Ram Weekly," PAN-O-RAM Annual, Canteen. We have been proud of our rings and class cards and graduation. As we leave this school, we leave an important phase of our lives. We will cherish these memories—and, because of them, have confidence that we are now ready for all that lies ahead.

Distinguished officers of the top 'n gown class are: M. Smith, Student Council representative; S. Evans, Vice President; G. Morris, Student Council representative; W. DeWasse, Secretary; D. Cahill, President.

"If Your Shields of Gold Are Carried Away Build Shields of Brass in Their Stead"

—II Corinthians

The theme of the Baccalaureate Service for the graduating class of 1952 dealt with making the best of things in a troubled and insecure world. The Reverend Donald R. Evans expressed the thought that these Seniors would venture out into life in, perhaps, one of the most critical periods in the history of mankind. They would have to have faith—ability to make the best of what they had—and take second or third choices. He also expressed his confidence in their ability to go forth as adults and make their world a better place in which to live.

"WE ARE A PART OF ALL WE MEET"

—Senior Class Commencement Theme

On June 24 the Class of '52 trod slowly to the strains of solemn music down the Esso Club carpet to their final commencement exercise. They spoke of fond memories, helpful guidance, and a steady and sure path for the future. Mr. E. V. Welsh, chairman of the school advisory committee, presented them with their symbols of achievement and enlightening youth — diplomas — and left them a last one thought — their lives of learning had not stopped but just begun.

JUNIORS GIVE THEIR BEST IN EVERY ENCOUNTER

Led by the illustrious President Rosborough, assisted by Vice-President Coakley, and kept in line by Secretary Smith, this enthusiastic class brought in the "Senora del Caribe" mambo band for their prom, starred Coakley in the junior assembly, and had the assistance of Carroll, Gray, and Rosborough in winning the intramural journey. There is a class with that "something special."
